George Washington Davis Guilty of Murder in the Second Degree.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 28 .- The jury in the George Washington Davis murder case returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the cond degree. The crime for which Davis has been convicted on his third trial was wrecking the Rock Island passenger train near Lincoln on the night of Aug. 20,1894. Eleven people were killed. The first attempt to convict him resulted in a mistrial. At the second attempt, after the State had nearly presented its case, juror Yates was taken temporarily insane and a new venire was ordered and the case tried

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Grand-"Villon the Vagabond," Otis Skinner, supported by a strong company, presented "Villon the Vagabond" at the Grand last evening to an audience which ed every part of the house. The play reckless vagabond character of Villon is said to be especially adapted to Mr. Skinner's style. The audience follows the fortunes of Villon with great interest. When he laughs the audience smiles, and when he weeps the audience is sad. In the third act when Villon is led by his love of Catherine into a net where he blindly urges his suit, gust. Again, in the last act, when Villon turns from Catherine, who bears to him no leve, and takes in his arms Denise, who hegs that she may die for him, there comes to one intense satisfaction. In this last scene comes the best piece of acting in the whole performance. Villon enters on his way to his death to find Denise on her knees, beseeching Catherine to speak just one word in behalf of the condemned poet. Catherine is haughty and insolent, having no kind word for the man who imperiled his life because of love for her. Villor watches the two women for a moment and then hurries to Denise. The scene is revelation to Villon, and Mr. Skinner's portrayal of the character in this one scene wins for him the admiration of everybody. There is plenty of action in play, the scene being faid in Paris, at the time of the abdication of Charles VII and the ascension made to play an important part in that portant period of French history, more portant, probably, than he ever did play. The character is more to be admired as por-trayed than as recorded by the biographers. There is a nobleness in it which wins respect, while the biographers would have us to believe that Villon was less than a vagabond-a man of very low morals who possessed a great intellect. Mr. Skinner puts in his presentation all the emotion ich the poet can be imagined as having, He is careless, reckless and hot-headed, yet kind and much admired. He laughs and sings in company with thieves, at the same time giving voice to noble thoughts and lofty aspirations. In the first act Mr. Skinner does as clever a bit of acting as is seldom seen, when, as Villon, he swears his allegiance to the Dauphin and hurls defiance at the King.

Miss Maud Durbin, as Denise, has little to say in the first acts, but in the last scenes she fills her part in a most excellent manner. The cast is strong and many of those filling minor parts do so well as to attract attention. To-night Mr. Skinner will present "Hamlet" and Saturday night he appears in "The Merchant of Venice." "Villon the Vagabond will be repated Saturday matinee. "His Grace de Grammont" was given at the matinee yesterday.

"The Defaulter" at English's,

A clean, theatrically effective play "The Defaulter," which was given its first Indianapolis representation yesterday at English's Opera House. It is a dramatization, by Lincoln J. Carter, of one of George Manville Fenn's novels ("This Man's Wife.") Mr. Carter has made a radical departure from his familiar machine plays. The principal characters are adequately played by Miss Lettie Allen, Harry Ellis, Frederick Montague and L. O. Hart. Ined, Miss Allen and Mr. Montague made a strong impression and carried the great body of the audience by assault. The play is tastefully staged; indeed, the scenery is of unusual merit. The leap across a chasm of two horses and their riders is one of the sensational effects. The theater was filled last night and the matinee yesterday was a big one. "The Defaulter" will be seen again to-night and to-morrow matinee and

Park-"A Money Order."

The Thanksgiving crowds at the Park yesterday eclipsed anything in its history for a similar holiday. Hundreds went away, unable to get near the box office, and the crush was terrific both matinee and night. The attraction was "A Money Order," Jule Walters's new comedy drama, and it is the best play he ever had. The situations in "A Money Order" are taken from real life, and the play contains a natural story. The scenic and mechanical effects used are riginal conceptions, and the scenery for each act is carried by the company. Miss Louise Lewellyn, as the adventuress in the play, finds opportunity for displaying a num-ber of handsome gowns. Miss Liewellyn is well fitted for the portrayal of the part of Blanche Henderson, a woman who almost wrecked the life of an honest man. "A Money Order" will be presented to-day and to-morrow, and "The Brooklyn Handicap"

Hoyt's New Play Monday.

Charles H. Hoyt, who has such a happy faculty of hitting off popular taste in the matter of witty lines and ludicrous situations by which to amuse the public, has also another and a greater gift. This is nothing more nor less than an ability to go out into the highways and byways and round up types of character that everyone else has overlooked, place them on the stage and ause them to be readily accepted by the public. In his latest comedy triumph, "A contented Woman," which will be seen at the Grand, commencing Monday night, for three nights and Wednesday matinee, he has secured several prize specimens of the siched them in with a lot of other wellknown public characters which makes up an irresistible combination. The new comedy has been one of the biggest of the numerous Hoyt successes.

Maurice Thompson To-Night.

To-night at Tomlinson Hall occurs the second number of the Monteflore lecture course for the benefit of the free kindergartens. The lecturer, Mr. Maurice Thompson, though often termed an Indiana cuthor, has won national fame as a writer. The subject of his lecture—which is not strictly a lecture, but a combination of an address with readings from his own writings—is "Learning and Life." As a public reader and lecturer, the author is said to have proven very successful.

GOV. EVANS AND SENATOR TILLMAN TALK WILDLY AT ATLANTA.

Rule the Country, and the Latter Belittles the President.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 28 .- To-day was set apart at the exposition as Atlanta and South Carolina day combined, and the sun had hardly risen before the prediction that it would be the greatest day in point of attendance in the history of the show was a certainty. Over one hundred thousand visitors were in the city, more strangers than were ever in Atlanta before. The streets were moving masses of humanity throughout the early morning hours, and before 9 o'clock the capacity of the turnstiles at the exposition entrances, towards which the multitude flowed steadily, were being taxed while bets were laid that the paid admissions to the grounds would reach the hundred-thousand mark before the gates closed for the day. The combination of the Thanksgiving holiday, the Palmetto State celebration and Atlanta day were respon-sible for this enormous attendance. The stores, shops and offices in the city were closed and all Atlanta joined the army of visitors at Piedmont Park. South Carolina covered herself with glory, excelling all other States that have had special days at the fair in number of vis-itors contributed and the military display made. Since yesterday morning a score of trains loaded with South Carolinians have rolled into the city and a fair estimate places the number of Carolinians in Atlanta to-day at from 12,000 to 15,000. Governor, Evans and Senator Tillman, accompanied by the Governor's staff, arrived yesterday afternoon and took quarters at the Aragon. Governor Evans suffered considerably from the fatigue of the journey and was indisposed during the night, but was better this morning. During the afternoon, evening and night special trains came from across the line, bearing between 2,000 and 3,000 caders and State militia and saveral honders. dets and State militia, and several hundred school girls from the Winthrop Normal and Industrial School at Rockville, while still other sections brought overflowing carloads of citizens. Not one official was left in Columbia to operate the State departments. The Governor deserted his post, and the constitutional convention, which has been in session for a number of months, was adjourned to give the members a chance to visit the exposition. The visiting militiamen marched to the exposition at 10 o'clock. When the line is a new one of the romantic kind, and the around the plank walk and were reviewed Evans and Governor Atkinson. After the review the troops gave a dress parade on the plaza and were inspected by the Govern-ors. Then the South Carelinians gathered in the auditorium, where they held their public ceremonials. They were welcomed to the city and State by President Collier, of exposition, and Governor Atkinson. Governor Evans responded on the part of his State. He thanked Georgia for its kindly welcome, for Georgia was a daugh-South Carolina, and she was proud of This was a day of thanksgiving, he but Georgia and South Carolina could without pharisaism exclaim: "Thank God we are not as other States." He believed was time for the South in Congress to rise up and speak out on the various questions and say that, while a part of the Union, and always to be a part, yet, by the help of God, she would rule this country again. He spoke of South Carolina's preeminent position in cotton manufacturing, but said the State was substantially an ag-ricultural one, and on that depended the prosperity of the whole country. The only true Democracy in the Union was to be found in the agricultural classes; among them alone could be found true patriotism and love of home and country.

Senator Tillman was next introduced, and created a great deal of enthusiasm among the Carolinians present, who rose up, wave-After a few pleasant and humorous hits at Governor Evans about being unmarried when so many pretty wmen were about, he said he had seen but little of the exposi-tion, yet from what he had heard and seen, Atlanta's show came a good second to the magnificent world's fair, and no other city than the Chicago of the South could have accomplished the undertaking. He took the exposition as a groundwork to talk about sions, the enormous amount of which, contended, was such a drain on the South that it was wonderful that she was able to hold such an exposition as this. The South, he said, does not receive more than a tithe back of what she pays. Since 1861 eighteen hundred and sixty million dol-lars had been paid out in pensions. The Cotton States paid not less than one-quarter of this. We had paid $400,000,000 to our lion. He realized full well that the South would never govern any more. It could only hope to wield the balance of power between the North and the great West. It was very certain, he thought, that as many Northern millions had been in-vested in the South as she had paid in pensions to the North, and Northern capital invested in the South was only the pension tribute coming back. He held that if at the close of the war the South had had an equal chance, if the tariff had not robbed the farmers, and the finances of the country had not been allowed to concentrate in the hands of a few, there was no conjecturing what this exposition would have bankers and capitalists do not real-The bankers and capitalists do not realize," declared Senator Tillman, "that the man who follows the plow is the salvation of the country. These fellows sit in their offices, and every time old Grover grunts they say, 'Me, too.'" It did Tillman's soul good to be told that two bob-tailed reformers like himself and Evans had been received with greater and Evans had been received with greater enthusiasm and by more people than the President of the ernor Evans and party repaired to the Illinois Building, which had been tendered the Carolinians, and where a reception was held, at which refreshments were served.

The sensation of the day was the new departure taken by Evans and Tillman. Up to this time all the speeches delivered a the exposition, whether by Northern or Southern men, have been pitched on the keynote of fraternity and national unity. Governor Evans and Senator Tillman struck out on a different line, however, the Govrnor declaring in a dramatic manner that the South proposed to rule this country, and Tillman going out of his way to attack the President and abuse Northern pensioners.

Praise for Hill; Groans for Grover. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 28.-Senator D. B. Hill was tendered a reception this afternoon by the Hennepin Democratic League, and it turned out to be a rather sensational meetsecond to no man in the party as regards able and patriotic statesmanship. there was any exception, it was Grover Cleveland. At the mention of Cleveland's name there were groans from some of the audience, Senator Hill first touched on the recent defeat of the Democratic party. He said that perhaps it was caused by a de-parture from Democratic precedents, perhaps by party mistakes. He accepted the verdict with good nature and realized that defeat was an incident to politics. He also said that there had been too much of a disposition on the part of some of the party leaders to adopt the ideas of some other party. This was always fatal to success.

He was well played by his owner. Cycler's Collar Bone Broken. SANTA ANA, Cal., Nov. 28.-The closing day of the bicycle meet here was fairly well attended. Kizer won the mile open from Bald on account of the tandems staying in the race all the way. Kiser got the double machine at the start and held it all the way. Bald tried to jump from second position half way down the home stretch and Kizer tried to jump, too. Both wabbled to avoid a fall, and Bald, seeing that first place was impossible, sat up and easily held close to Kiser, Cooper holding third place a few lengths back. Several long seconds followed and then Wells, Campbell and McCrea came in. The coast mile competi-tion record was cut to 2:01 1-5. Freeman, of San Francisco, had his collar bone broken by McFarland cutting in on him.

DE PAUW BOYS FOOLED. Louisville's Captain Made a Fake Kick and Won the Game. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 28 .- At the end of second half in the game football played here to-day the score stood: Louisville Athletic Club, DePauw University, 10. From this score the closeness of the game can be well judged. Every yard of ground was closely and gamely contested, and as far as team work was concerned the honors were about ing. President Martin, of the league, in even. The Louisville Athletic Club won by introducing him, said that he considered its lightning-like runs around DePauw's its lightning-like runs around DePauw's ends and good interference. In fact, both teams had this quality cultivated to a high degree, but as the backs could get no foothold in the mud the forwards of the opposing team frequently broke through and tackled them in their tracks.

> The DePauw team played in hard luck by not gaining the first touchdown, for such it would have been with thirty seconds more of play, for the time was called for the first half with the ball within one foot of Louisville Athletic's goal, and a score was inevitable. They, however, played a steady, uphill game in the second half, scoring twice, and the game would have ended in a tie but for the failure of F. Roller to kick goal. It can be said with perfect fairness that Shireman played the game of the day for the visitors; that Dougherty, left half back, was in every place, and his line bucking was terrific. Lucas, of Louisville, carried off the honors for the home team. He followed the ball with bulldog tenacity, and was in the heart of every scrimmage. The game was replete with brilliant runs on both sides, and the crowd, which numbered about three housand, was impartial in bestowing its favors, both sides being cheered whenever a good play was made. The game was essentially a kicking game, and that de-lighted the public. Time and again the full backs of the opposing teams sent the pigskin spinning through the air for forty or fifty yards' gain, only to have the ball eturned without touching the ground. Mc-Donald, of Louisville, was not up to his usual form, and Hines probably got the best of the exchanges. Both captains hantheir men well, although laction in not causing his to punt more in the last half was severely condemned; while on the other hand, by his tricky head work, Captain Frew won the game for Louisville. signal for a fake kick was well executed, and almost before the astonished Indiana men realized that they had been fooled, the blue captain had run through their entire eleven and placed the ball directly behind the goal post, from which he kicked an easy goal, making the winning score. Taking all in all, the game was the best played here for years, and by their game playing in face of almost certain defeat, and by their gentlemanly conduct, both on and off the field, the Indiana boys made many friends in this city. While the game the second half on account of a sprained wrist. The utmost good feeling existed between the two teams, and the game was devoid of all the singging features and dirty work which have frequently marred the games in this city.

DePauw was late, in arriving at the grounds, and it was 3:22 when the captains tossed for choice of goals. Louisville won, and Captain Frew chose the western goal and gave the ball to DePayw. At 3:26 F. Roller, for DePayw, kicked the ball far into the Blues' territory. The pigskin was caught by McDonald, of Louisville, on the twenty-five-yard line. He returned the ball several yards before downed. After a few short gams McDonald punted twenty-five yards to Ruic, in the center of the field. DePauw was unable to gain, and Louisville got the ball on downs. Brown, the burly guard, then sauntered through the oppos ing tackle for fifteen yards and the crowd went wild, only to be cast down a few sec-onds later when McIlhenny fumbled and Sandy fell on the ball. They were once more unable to gain, and Louisville took the leather on downs on DePauw's fiftyyard line, but gave it up after three ineffectual attempts to buck DePauw's center. At the first attempt DePauw fumbled, and big South had the ball. McDonald ran around the left end for five yards, but Louisville again fumbled, and Welss, of Pauw, was dragged from under with th ball in his arms. Once more Louisville took the leather on downs, and by bucking on the part of Lucas, Brown and Goodson, the ball was DePauw's ten-yard line. Brown had advanced the ball six yards Lucas fumbled, and Sandy fell on the ball within one yard of the goal line. Hall quickly punted thirty yards to McDonald. who was tackled in his tracks. L. A. could not gain, and DePauw got the ball on downs on its thirty-yard line. Hall phinged into O'Connor for ten yards and again in the same place for five. Here L. A. C. took a brace and soon received the ball on downs. All the time there had been much lighting on the line, and several times the umphre warned the players on both teams. L. A. C. lost the ball a few minutes later, however, on downs, but at first attempt DePauw fumbled and Goodson was on the hall. On the second down the ball was passed to McDonald for a punt, but Shireman broke through, blocked after provisioning the fort started in the kick and fell on the ball. Haines then punted to McDonald on L. A. C.'s fifty-yard He immediately punted fifty yards down the field to Rule, The quarter re- treat again with a loss of forty-five killed turned the ball twenty-five yards, which was stopped by Goodson. Unable to gain at center, DePauw called on Haines for a punt, and he sent the ball for forty yards to punt, and he sent the ball for forty yards to against the insurgents in the province of the past week. CUBAN INSURGENTS DEFEATED BY SPANISH SOLDIERS.

Trial at Havana of Gen. Julio San quilly, a Patriot Leader-Alleged Fillbusters Arrested.

HAVANA, Nov. 28 .- Advices received here from Santa Spiritus, province of Santa Clara, say that the insurgents recently attacked Fort Jicotea, near Ciego de Avila, in the province of Puerto Principe. The garrison, it is stated, made a brave defense and the insurgents were repulsed, leaving twelve killed upon the field. Lieutenant Gallego, in command of Fort Reforma, on the borders of the provinces of Santa Clara and Puerto Princepe, has been beseiged for three days by a numerous band of insurgents. The latter several times called on the Lieutenant to surrender, but in spite of the fact that the little garrison of the fort was without water, the place was defended until reinforcements arrived, when the insurgents after provisioning the fort, started in pursuit of the enemy. After four hours' fighting the insurgents were compelled to re-Santiago de Cuba the troops captured two insurgent camps, the enemy leaving four noon. General Sanguily has been confined in the Cabanas fortress. There was a great crowd in the court room when the defendant was brought in unmanacled, decently dressed and escorted by several policemen. After the usual formalities upon the opening of the trial had been gone through General Sanguily was called to the stand. In his testimony he denied having written letters to Dr. Betancourt, of Matanzas, demanding funds to leave with his family while he took the field in the rebe cause. An expert in handwriting who was called to the stand declared that the writing in the documents referred to by the state attorney was the same as General case. The prosecuting attorney, Senor Enjuto, then started on his address and gave his assurance that he felt every day more assured of the defendant's guilt. After a speech lasting one hour, he demanded of the court that General Sanguily be sen-tenced to imprisonment for life.

The counsel for the defense, Senor Miguel Viondi, was listened to as he arose and be-gan to speak amidst the deepest silence in the court room. He opened in the most vehement and eloquent style, denying that there was any ground for General San-gully's conviction. The prosecuting attorney, Senor Viondi said, was in this misled by his Spanish patriotic feelings, and his claim was not based upon law, and his claim was not based upon law. He pointed out that the proceedings were should accordingly be considered void as it is contrary to the provision of th between Spain and the United in Cuba a trial by civil tribunal of any charges brought against them-a fact tations on behalf of Sanguily. At a late hour the court adjourned until to-morrow. The tribunal, which is organized according to the Spanish laws, consisted of President Senor Jose Pulldo, secretary, Senor Odoareo and Magistrates Pando, Bonanza, Pampillon, Acoudillo and Maydagan as jurors. Among the spectators in the court room to-day were Ramen O. Williams United States Consul-general, and severa

I have left the time of the hearing to Captain Ker. During his absence we can secure and arrange thoroughly the evidence in the case. As to the crew, who have been subpoenaed as witnesses, it will be necessary to detain them if the hearing is postponed to a later date than to-morrow. Collector Read has made out clearance papers and the vessel will probably leave after to-morow's hearing. Warrants were also issued for the arrest of Capt. S. Vance and his two mates, of the steamer Leon, on a similar charge. The Leon recently went aground while proceeding down the river to meet, as is alleged, the Joseph W.
